

MAY APPOINT AN INSANITY COMMISSION

To Examine as to Whether Thaw is Now Insane

This Step May Be Taken
by District Attorney
Jerome

TRIAL HAS BEEN POSTPONED

And It Is Believed That Juror Bolton
Will Be Able to serve—Insurance Company Insures Thaw's Life.

New York, Feb. 15.—It is today taken for granted that unless Juror Bolton has an actual physical breakdown there will be no mistrial in the Thaw case. Mrs. Bolton's funeral has been fixed for tomorrow afternoon. It is believed that by Monday Mr. Bolton will be fit to continue his duty to the state. Without mistrial, however, the proceedings are likely to be cut short. Jerome's experts are inclining more and more to the belief that Thaw is really insane. Jerome may, therefore, decide to demand a commission in lunacy early next week. Should the commission formally declare Thaw insane he will be sent to Matteawan without further ado.

All along Thaw has covered between the twin fears of the electric chair and Matteawan and the strict and perhaps lifelong discipline under which the criminally insane are placed.

Thaw's attorneys had to recognize that an insanity plea was the only thing which could save Thaw's life. In introducing this plea, however, they have endeavored to leave a gap in the testimony by which the jury, while being convinced that Thaw was insane when he killed White, would have no justification in declaring that Thaw is insane now. It has been noticed that the experts for the defense have not examined Thaw since December.

They have sworn that he was mad in August and September and better, though still mad, in December. The intimation was that Thaw has improved and might now be well. That they could not testify he was well because they had not seen him.

This plan of campaign required the greatest possible finesse. It had already begun to look as if the question would never send Thaw to the chair. Delmas was leaving them without sufficient evidence to send him to Matteawan.

Jerome's reported intention to summon a lunacy commission is to balk this plan. If he takes this action it will be on the theory that if Thaw was insane enough last summer to escape the chair, he is insane enough now to go to Matteawan. This move by Jerome would put Thaw's defenders in a critical position. They have been bringing in evidence that Thaw was a paranoiac by inheritance and development and that the disease last summer had reached a point where it amounted to homicidal mania. Dr. Evans has testified that Thaw has an abnormal head, an abnormal heart, and other attributes of a crazy person. They have told about Thaw's insane aunt and have read a lot of incoherent love letters to prove unsoundness of mind. They have a will ready to introduce to further clinch the proof of dementia.

Now, should a commission in lunacy take this same evidence and decide on the strength of it, that Thaw is now insane, no power on earth could keep him out of Matteawan. And while Thaw may be better than he was last summer, confinement with crazy people might be expected to aggravate his complaint so that no board of examining physicians would be able at a latter date, to pronounce him cured. The outcome of such a situation would mean life imprisonment. Thaw dreads life imprisonment more than he does the electric chair, and he is demanding from his attorneys that they save him from such a fate at all costs.

New York, Feb. 15.—The death of the wife of Juror Joseph Bolton cast a gloom over the criminal courts building and had a particularly depressing effect on every one connected with the trial. The prisoner seemed to feel the matter quite keenly when he was brought into court to hear the formal announcement of the order for a postponement of his further hearing. The fact that the Thaw jurors have been kept in close confinement since they were selected for trial service and that Mr. Bolton had been allowed to visit his home, only three times during his wife's fatal illness lent a pathetic aspect to the case, and the greatest sympathy was felt on all sides. Mrs. Bolton suffered from double pneumonia.

Harry Thaw was much affected by the announcement of Mrs. Bolton's death. He said: "I am very sorry for Mr. Bolton and sympathize with him deeply. Naturally, I feel the delay which the death necessitates in my trial. However, we shall have to make the best of it." Taken back to his cell in the Tombs, he gave way to such despair that his young wife was hurriedly sent for to quiet him. As a result of her efforts, Thaw was finally brought around to a realization that the delay was unavoidable.

Following the formal announcement of Mrs. Bolton's death, Justice Fitzgerald immediately ordered an adjournment of the case until next Monday morning. The court also ordered, with the consent of the counsel, that the other 11 jurors be given their liberty and no longer be held together. He admonished the jurors to be guided by their honesty and their oaths, and not to read the newspapers, or discuss the Thaw case with anybody.

In announcing the adjournment until Monday Justice Fitzgerald expressed the hope that the trial might then proceed. It is realized, however, that this will depend largely on the condition in which Juror Bolton may be at that time. If he feels that he can put aside all personal consideration and continue to act as a juror, the trial will be resumed. If he feels that his condition of mind is such, or that his personal affairs are such as to prevent his giving his whole attention to the case during the remaining days of the trial, some other solution of the difficulty must be looked for.

The statement in court that counsel for the defense and prosecution had considered the proposition of taking the deposition of Drs. Bingham and Deemar, the Thaw family physicians, during the recess, which was endorsed by Justice Fitzgerald, subsequently was modified according to statements made after recess. Mr. Hartridge of counsel for Thaw said that the defense had decided that it would be of greater advantage to have the physicians testify in court. Mr. Hartridge said that what they have to say would be of materially greater advantage if told to the jury by word or mouth than if depositions were read.

Dr. Britton D. Evans, superintendent of the New Jersey State Hospital for the insane, was recalled as an alienist to continue his direct examination. The witness was asked to detail the conversations he had on various occasions with Thaw in the Tombs. He had already declared these conversations to be an essential feature in his conclusion that Thaw was of unsound mind at the time of the doctor's visits to him, the last being September 22. Mr. Jerome had withdrawn his objection to the statements made by Thaw into the evidence, and Dr. Evans was about to detail the events of his first visit on Aug. 4, when the summons for Juror Bolton came. Juror Bolton is 57 years old and a clerk.

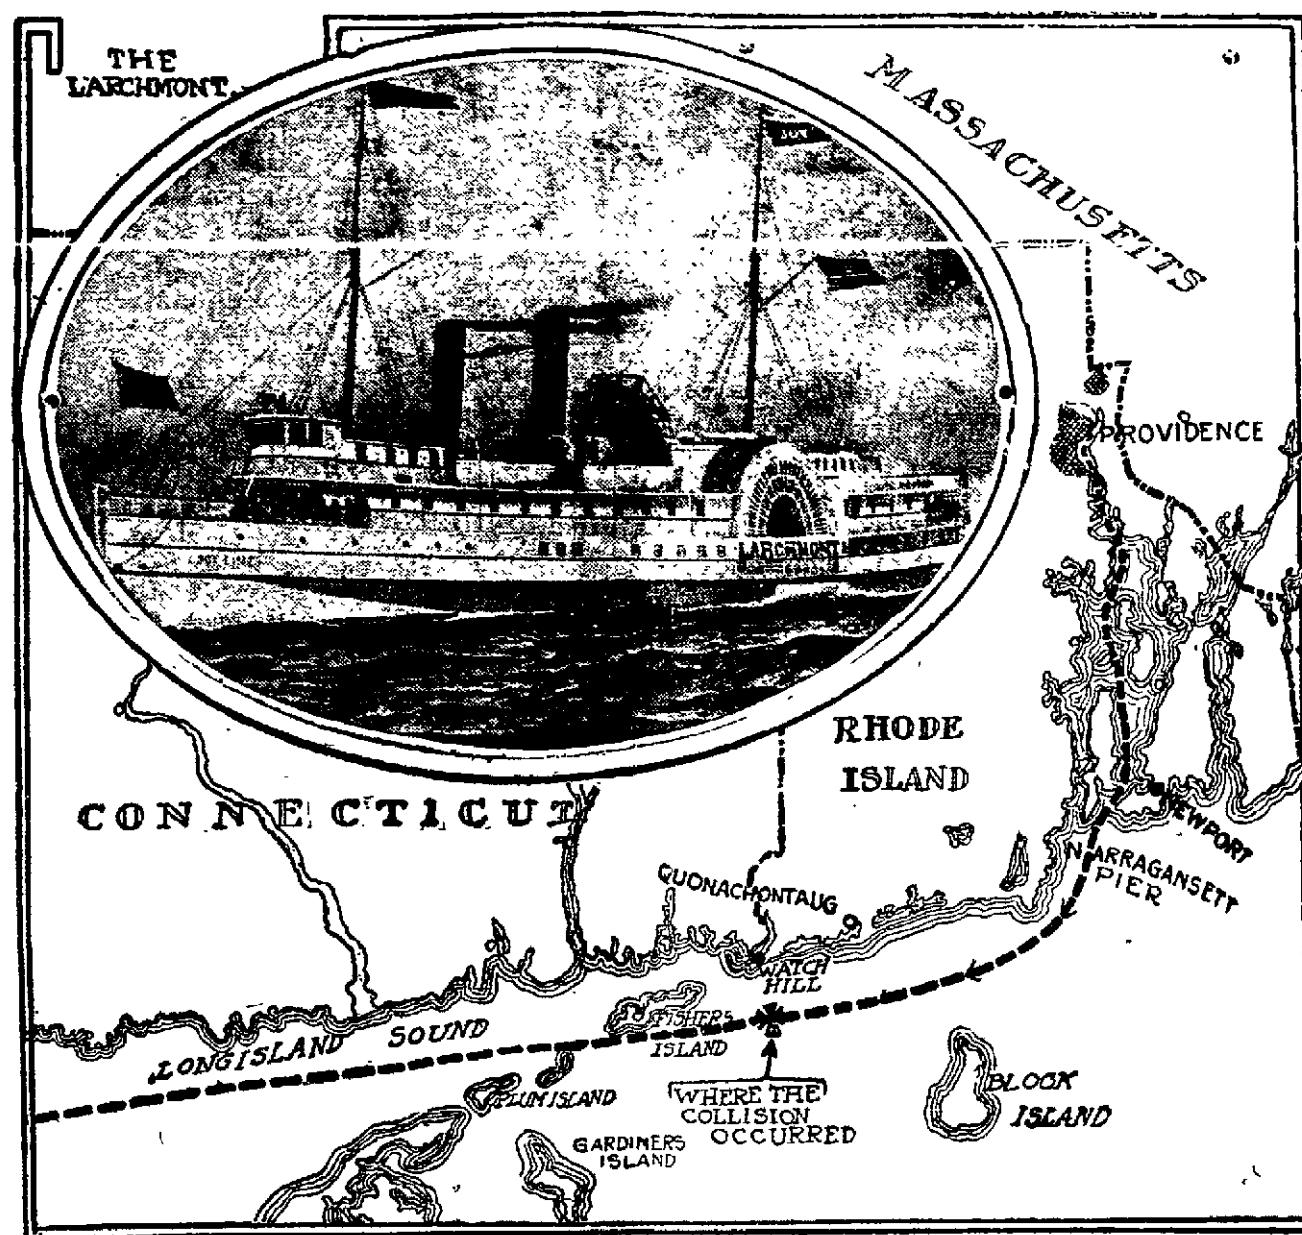

Newspapers Warned.
Dallas, Tex., Feb. 15.—W. H. Atwell, United States district attorney for the northern district of Texas, issued a letter of warning to the newspapers of his district with reference to the publication of the proceedings of the Thaw trial. Mr. Atwell calls attention to that section of the federal statutes which prohibits and prohibits the depositing of obscene matter for mailing and delivery in the United States.

Union League Club's Action.
New York, Feb. 15.—Henry B. Hayden, at a meeting of the Union League of New York, offered a resolution, deprecating the publication of the salacious evidence in the Thaw trial, which was passed unanimously. George R. Sheldon, president of the club, presided at the meeting.

THAW'S KEEPER DIED.

Pneumonia, the cause of the death of Mrs. Bolton, wife of Juror Bolton, has claimed a second victim in the ranks of those connected with Harry Thaw, since the killing of Stanford White. This was Michael Downey, for 30 years a keeper of the Tombs, who died yesterday at Gouverneur hospital. Downey had charge of many prisoners charged with murder, among them being Albert T. Patrick, Roland B. Molineux and others. Harry Thaw was the last to come under his care. He was taken ill this week. (Continued on page 5, 2d col.)

LOST STEAMSHIP AND MAP SHOWING WHERE COLLISION OCCURRED.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—According to the best evidence of the survivors of the Larchmont disaster, the collision occurred about three miles off Watch Hill, but, owing to the heavy gale the victims, who embarked in boats, life rafts and remnants of the steamship, were obliged to drift to Block Island, almost 15 miles away.

Snellenburg & Co., owners of a big department store in this city, was arrested on a warrant issued by a member of the firm in which she is charged with embezzling funds of the company to the amount of $25,000. The woman, who is about 40 years old, is alleged to have secured this amount within 10 months by falsifying the books. She was sent to prison in default of $10,000 bail for a further hearing Feb. 20. It was stated that the books were being examined and that the amount of the shortage might prove to be much greater.

AMERICANS ASSURE POPE OF SYMPATHY

Rome, Feb. 15.—During a reception yesterday by Pope Pius, a delegation of American pilgrims, Bishop Rulley of Savannah, assured the pontiff that the hearts of 10,000,000 American Catholics were unconditionally in support of him in his attitude toward France. In reply His Holiness said: "This is no surprise to me for I always have received the most cordial welcome from America. I believe that America is the future land of promise. Long live America."

In response to this declaration the pilgrims indulged in a demonstration seldom, if ever, equalled in Vatican history.

PUSHED BACK

When She Tried to Enter Lifeboat.

Woman's Story.

Block Island, R. I., Feb. 15.—One more grim harvest of 23 victims of the ill-fated steamer Larchmont, which the Block Island fishermen gathered in nearby waters, was sent to the mainland on the tug Roger Williams. Another victim was brought in by the fishing schooner Theresa, making in all 74 bodies that have been recovered. One survivor, Miss Sadie Gallup of Boston, still remains on the island where she is being cared for. When she regained consciousness she stated that when she begged either Captain McVey or Purser Young to take her in their boats, they pushed her back and the lifeboat left the Larchmont with only six in it, although it would have held 20 more. When the steamer went down she found herself on a piece of wreckage and remained on it until picked up 10 hours later by the crew of the fishing schooner Elsie. Miss Gallup was very emphatic in her charge against Captain McVey and the officers of the Larchmont.

RESUME OF CASUALTIES

In the Larchmont Disaster—Death

Cut Number of Survivors.

Providence, R. I., Feb. 15.—The work of returning to their relatives and friends the bodies of the victims of the Larchmont disaster continued Thursday. Another boat load of 24 bodies came up the river from Block Island late Thursday and were transferred to the morgue. The authorities here number the identified dead at 54, including Samuel LaCombe, of Manchester, N. H., who reached Block Island alive Tuesday morning and survived long enough to reach the Rhode Island Hospital here, where he died early Thursday evening.

The only body recovered which was one brought to this city was that of Harry Forbes, of Block Island, whose funeral took place within a few miles of the beach on which it was thrown by the sea.

The death of LaCombe reduces the number of survivors to 15, and one of that number, Miss Sadie Gallup of Boston, still remains at Block Island, recovering from her terrible experiences.

Of the bodies which were brought to this city in the tug Roger Williams, a number had already been identified, and at the morgue 10 remained unidentified. This number is included in those known to be missing, which totaled 87, making a total number, according to all accounts of 159 who sailed on the Larchmont on Monday. These lists include 11 survivors, 54 identified dead and 94 missing or unidentified dead.

Walker, the treasurer, began misusing funds shortly after entering on his first term of office. He served for four years. The county is protected by bonding companies.

VIVID FLASHES OF LIGHTNING IN PITTSBURG

Accompany Storm as Was Predicted By Scientist Who Discovered Sun Spot.

Pittsburg, Feb. 15.—The most phenomenal atmospheric disturbance ever witnessed in this city occurred when in the midst of an extraordinary heavy blizzard several peals of loud thunder were heard and vivid flashes of lightning came from the heavens, causing a magnificent complication of atmospheric conditions and frightening many persons who saw the remarkable occurrence. Professor John A. Grashar of the Allegheny observatory said: "The disturbance was the most remarkable thing I have ever known. In view of the gigantic sun spot I expected an electrical disturbance."

ELEVEN MEN CHARGED WITH FOUL MURDER

Chicago, Feb. 15.—Eleven men are under arrest at the Maxwell street police station in connection with the murder of a girl known only as "Paulina," who was found dead in a yard at 478 West Fourteenth street. The police claim that they have positive proof that the girl was drugged with ammonia which had been placed in beer, and was then attacked by the men. Four of the men are said to have confessed.

THE REVOLUTION WILL END WITH LEADER'S CAPTURE

Caracas, Feb. 15.—General Parédez, who recently landed on Betedez state with twenty followers and collected a small revolutionary army, has been captured. Two of his officers, including General Balboa, chief of staff, and Parédez, are also said to be in the hands of the government troops. Government authorities declare the capture of Parédez will end the emulapo revolution. It is known however, that several hundred men had pledged themselves to support his cause and many had already gathered in his camp. Whether these revolutionists will quietly disperse now is doubtful. If some other general takes the field against President Castro it is regarded as more than likely that Parédez followers will go to his support.

An official bulletin posted yesterday while the people were celebrating the first day of the carnival contained the information that President Castro had successfully undergone an operation on an infected gland in the groin and was doing well.

CRIMINALS HAVE A PULL.

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 15.—Every year witnesses atrocious crimes in New York, the perpetrators of which are known to the police, but cannot be arrested because of their pull," said former Police Commissioner McAdoo, of New York, addressing an audience of Harvard students on "Guarding a Great City."

McAdoo asserted many laws are violated with impunity because the people do not want them enforced. "If I were John D. Rockefeller," he said, "I would give $1,000,000 to hunt New York's escaped murderers."

Dynamite on Track.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 15.—An attempt to blow up an Albina avenue electric car was discovered when a motorman, slowing his car up to take a switch, noticed a peculiar object lying in the "frog" between the tracks. Examination disclosed a stick of dynamite four inches long, capped at both ends. The approach of the car had shaken the explosive too deep in the frog for the wheels to hit and thus an explosion and probable heavy loss of life was frustrated.

Venezuelan Rebels Captured.

FIERCE FIGHT BETWEEN WHITES AND NEGROES

Richmond, Va., Feb. 15.—From half a dozen to a dozen negroes and whites have been killed and wounded in a race riot that was in progress all day Thursday at Thornton, 20 miles east of Roanoke. The trouble is at the railroad camp of the Vaughan Construction company, on the Tidewater railway, where a large number of both whites and blacks are employed. A number of negroes rebelled early in the day, when some of them were discharged by a foreman, and soon in the vicinity was general throughout the day.

The whites, of course, rallied to the support of the foreman and succeeded in dispersing the gathering crowd of blacks. The negroes, however, took to conventional arms from which point of vantage they kept up a steady fire on their white neighbors.

The whites were not sufficiently strong to storm the blacks and put an end at once to the sanguinary conflict. Both sides were entrenched behind logs and other natural fortifications, from which the fight was carried on with more or less vigor all day. Both sides are well supplied with ammunition.

It is believed that the negroes in the camp outnumber the whites. The negroes cut the telephone and telegraph lines between the camp and the city, so that nothing was learned last night regarding the latest developments. No further fighting before communication was interrupted the whites had acquired officers of this city with their soldiers situation and asked that assistance be sent to them so that the shooting of blood might be stopped.

Deserders of the Baldwin regiment and a delegation of citizens were dispatched from Roanoke to the scene of the conflict.

KUROPATKIN SAYS OFFICERS ARE TO BLAME

For Russia's Disastrous Campaign in Manchuria

Inefficiency, and Disorganization Cause Many Reverses

ORDERS WERE DISOBEYED

Causing the Crushing Defeat at Mukden—Says the Japanese Were Prepared at All Times.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 15.—Amazing revelations of inefficiency, disorganization and insubordination are made in General Kuropatkin's history of the Russo-Japanese war, which has at last become accessible. The work had been confiscated by the Russian government because of its scathing indictment of high army officials. The history consists of three bulky volumes respectively devoted to the three crucial events of the war, the battle of the Sha river, the battle of Liaoyang and the battle of Mukden. The voluminous general orders, statistics, reports and other documentary matter have been collated by Colonel Belkhorontoff of the general staff.

GENERAL KUROPATKIN. These with the "conclusions" which have been formulated constitute most startling revelations of disorganization and incapacity, and even of disobedience of specific and urgent orders on the part of certain general officers entrusted with high commands in the field, notably General Kaubars, against whom a formidable indictment is framed, saddling upon his shoulders practically the entire responsibility for the crushing defeat at Mukden.

Kuropatkin's reasons of the failure of the war are based chiefly on a comparison of the warlike spirit of the Japanese, their preparedness and valor, which, he says, had never been seen in any previous war, and their ability to maintain the numerical superiority necessary to assume the offensive, with the disadvantages of Russia, owing to the inadequacy of the single track railway from Europe in feeding her fighting strength, with commanding officers disobeying orders and in a hopeless state of confusion and cross purposes, with a low state of morale and confidence among the troops and continuous news from home of internal troubles and of insults and reproaches against the army. The general closes his survey of the cause of the defeat of the Russians with the pathetic reflection that if Russians had been united and ready to make the sacrifice necessary to safeguard their dignity and integrity, the "valiant Russian army would have withstood until the foe was subdued." After the fall of Port Arthur, Kuropatkin describes his plan for a great turning movement and the blame for its failure was thrown upon General Gripenberg. "It is regrettable," says Kuropatkin, "that a fortnight before the commencement of our advance the chances of success were overturned by certain orders of Gripenberg." ## RUSH OF GAS BURNED FOUR

Men Were in a Shanty Getting Warm
When One of Them Increased the Flow.

Hebron, O., Feb. 15.—A terrific explosion occurred about two miles northwest of here on Thursday afternoon, at the Dudley Taylor farm, and four men were badly burned.

Messrs. Ralph Detre, James Cline-Smith, Joe Neals and Marion Van Horn were engaged in cleaning out a well on Mr. Taylor's property and becoming cold entered a shanty where there was a gas fire. Ralph Detre, not being satisfied with the fire, seized a wrench and endeavored to increase the force of the gas, but the wrench slipped and the full force was turned on, causing the explosion. The men were badly burned about the face and arms. Mr. Neals' conditions being the most serious. The shanty was entirely demolished and a valuable Scotch collie dog was killed.

The injuries of the men were attended to, and all passed a comfortable night, with the exception of Mr. Cline-Smith, who suffered intensely.

Bill Sent Back.

Paris, Feb. 15.—The speech made by Minister Briand in the senate today in the course of the debate upon the supplementary separation bill, a feature of which is the doing away with the necessity of notification for the holding of public meetings, was most conciliatory in tone. Mr. Briand declared that this measure was brought in a spirit of tolerance, conciliation and pacification and that the government sought its rapid enactment. Much surprise was created when the senate by a vote of 18 against 123 passed a resolution to send the bill back to the committee for further consideration.

LIFTED

Blame From the Woman and Confessed the Murder of Mrs. Broughton.

Barboursville, Ky., Feb. 15.—Jesse Fitzgerald who was hanged for the murder of Mrs. Robert Broughton, made a statement in which he acquitted Amy Sopher of any connection with the crime. Fitzgerald took the entire responsibility for the murder. The Sopher woman was sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary for her part in the crime.

Fitzgerald entered the apartments of Mrs. Broughton, and while she was asleep almost beheaded her. His motive was revenge for having been ordered away from the Broughton home; but after the crime he secured money and jewelry and escaped. He was captured by bloodhounds and narrowly escaped lynching, three companies of troops and a galling gun squad having great difficulty in protecting the negro during the trial.

Fitzgerald joined the Baptist church last week, being baptized in a bath tub.

HANGED FOR ASSAULT.

Russellville, Ky., Feb. 15.—W. R. Fletcher aged 65, and Guy Lyons were hanged this morning for an assault on Mary Gladder in 1905. Both men protested their innocence after mounting the scaffold, claiming they committed no crime for which they merited death. At 3 this morning

Lyons cut an artery in his arm with a tin spoon. Strong stimulants were necessary to prolong his life until the time of hanging. Fletcher and Lyons were the first white men executed in Kentucky according to form of law, for the crime of the ages.

Fletcher and Lyons were executed for assaults on Mary Gladder, a German girl, who was traveling through the country with her father. The crime was committed in May, 1905. F. R. Fletcher, John Sacra, Guy and James Lyons, all farmers, had been to Russellville, and going home in the evening passed the camp of the old man and his daughter. They agreed to return after night and assault the girl, who was about 20 years of age. They met at the appointed rendezvous, and attacked the camp. Gladder, who was 70 years old, fought with desperation, but was overpowered, held by two of the men, while the other two caught the girl. With a pistol at his head and with threats of death, he was forced to witness the most brutal mistreatment of his daughter. At the trial it was brought out that Guy Lyons, Fletcher and Sacra assaulted the girl in turn, but that James Lyons did nothing more than help hold the father. He turned state's evidence against his brother and the other two men, and was sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary. The other three were given the death sentence, but owing to a technicality Sacra was recently granted a new trial by the Court of Appeals.

Fletcher has a family of several grown daughters, his wife having died since his confinement in jail. Guy Lyons and Sacra were also married.

FIRST DEGREE MURDER.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The grand jury today indicted for murder in the first degree Mrs. Anna M. Bradley who shot ex-Senator Arthur Brown of Utah, at the Raleigh Hotel in this city December 8th last.

FORTUNE

Was Wiped Out by the Court's Decision, But Miss Jutte is a Happy Bride.

Pittsburg, Feb. 15.—Frank Otto Walther of No. 9 East Thirty-ninth street, New York City, and Miss Ida Brokaw Jutte of Pittsburg, were married last evening at the home of the bride's mother in Morewood avenue. A week ago the bride was heiress to an immense fortune. When Mr. Walther led her to the altar yesterday afternoon she was penniless.

"I have enough money for both," he declared after the ceremony was performed.

The bride is the daughter of the late William C. Jutte, who at the time of his death was supposed to have a fortune of at least $2,000,000. About a year ago the financial world was startled when his widow entered suit in the local courts against his former business associates, James W. Friend and Frank N. Hofstet, to recover stocks and securities to the value of over $1,000,000.

On Saturday of last week a decision was handed down in the case favorable to the defendants. The court decided that the evidence showed that the stocks and bonds had been given to the defendants as security for sums of money advanced to Jutte while he was in financial trouble and that they were, therefore, their own property.

Mr. and Mrs. Walther left for an extended wedding trip after a reception in the evening.

INDIAN ASPIRES TO THE SENATE

Big Chief Pleasant Porter of Oklahoma—He Will Have His Rivals However.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Chief Pleasant Porter, ruler of 10,000 Creek Indians, who was at the White House yesterday may be one of the Democratic candidates for the United States Senate from the new state of Oklahoma. Like Senator Curtis of Kansas, Porter's father was a white man and his mother a squaw.

"Oklahoma will surely have a Democratic legislature," he said, "but I think there are too many ambitious young men who will be after the job of senator. I have been talked about for a Senate seat, but I am not so certain that I can get it."

OPPOSITION

To Hasty Adoption of Exclusion Amendment Develops in Senate.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The sudden development of a full-fledged filibuster resulted in the senate when an attempt was made to force the adoption of the conference agreement on the immigration bill. This report carries a provision for exclusion of coolies, and is intended to aid in settlement of the California-Japanese problem.

Expressing sympathy with this object, yet regarding the report with suspicion on other points, Senators Bacon and Tillman first endeavored to have action delayed that they might study the report. When this was refused the filibuster began. Mr. Bacon held the floor for two and a half hours. Mr. Tillman remarked that he was preparing to make a 10-day fight on the floor against the report because he objected to being run over as with an automobile. Mr. Bacon objected that the report changed existing law in respects which he believed on hurried examination would deprive southern states from obtaining even the meager labor supply from abroad which was available under the present immigration laws. A truce was declared until Friday afternoon at the suggestion of Senator Spooner, when the report will again come up for consideration.

STOLE A WATCH

Is the Allegation Made Against Clarence Freiner, by B. & O. Brake-man Charles Hunt.

Clarence Freiner, a brother of Harry Freiner, now in the Mansfield reformatory on a charge of manslaughter, was arrested last night on a charge of grand larceny, it being said that Freiner stole a watch, chain and charm valued at $65 from Charles Hunt, a B. & O. brakeman.

An affidavit making the above charge against Freiner was filed before Mayor McCleery Friday morning by Mr. Hunt, and Freiner was brought into court where he pleaded not guilty and asked for a hearing Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Mr. Hunt stated to the Advocate that he was in a toilet room at the B. & O. and left his coat hanging on a hook in a small waiting room. When he returned for his coat, the watch, chain and charm were missing.

Mr. Hunt gave the number of the watch to several of his friends and asked them to look out for the timepiece, which was considered a valuable one. It was not long before he was notified that Freiner had attempted to sell a watch of the same number to Joe Thompson, a B. & O. yard employee. The matter was reported to the police at once, and Freiner was arrested by Officers Dawson and Hager. When arrested he had the watch, which was identified by Mr. Hunt.

Freiner's bond was fixed at $300 for his appearance before Mayor McCleery Monday afternoon.

DAY'S BUSINESS IN COURT HOUSE

In Common Pleas.

Lewis A. Pierson vs. Isabel Pierson submitted to the court heretofore on a motion to dismiss appeal from Probate court. The suit is for divorce. Motion to dismiss appeal overruled. Fulton & Fulton, Smythe & Smythe, Hunter & Hunter.

The case was originally brought in the Probate court by Lewis A. Pierson for divorce. The court held that the last enactment of the legislature gave the right of appeal from the probate court to the common pleas court; that in the last legislation on the subject, they omitted the very words from the former section of the statute which had prohibited as the court construes it, the right to appeal as under the former statute. Smythe & Smythe, Fulton & Fulton; Hunter & Hunter.

Night Sweats and Chills Gone Weight Increased 14 Pounds

Mr. John Bently of Grand Rapids, Mich., who was so low from lung trouble that the doctor gave him up as incurable, and who had night sweats and chills and weighed only 86 lbs., was miraculously cured by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

Letters like the following, written by Mr. Bently, unsolicited, should be published so that the world may know what the great medicine is doing for suffering humanity.

"I have taken DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY for three months for lung troubles. When I first commenced I was bedfast, and now I am able to work. Now, the doctor of our town said that nothing would help me, but DUFFY'S MALT WHISKEY did what the doctors could not do. I had night sweats and chills and weighed 86 pounds. I weigh 100 pounds now, the chills have left me, and the sweats are also gone. I am looking for great results.—MR. JOHN BENTLY, Grand Rapids, Mich." Nov. 15, '06.

PORTER ON MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

New York, Feb. 15.—Robert P. Porter, director of the eleventh caucus, out of the vast fund of his first handed information, has written a book which is sure to arouse wide discussion. It is called "The Dangers of Municipal Ownership," and is published by the Century company.

Mr. Porter's book is the fruit of years of travel, study and observation. While the writer is, frankly, from the title page, an opponent of municipal ownership as it exists, he presents a vast array of interesting facts and figures to substantiate his position, citing in detail results in specific cases where municipal trading has been tried.

The literature in favor of municipal ownership has assumed considerable proportions of late years and bears widely distributed, but here is the first full and dependable discussion of the other side. Certainly so authoritative a presentation of reliable facts and figures on so live an issue deserves the reading of every voter. It is a book of intense interest and one of the most valuable and enlightening works on municipal matters of recent years.

To feel strong, have good appetite and digestion, sleep soundly and enjoy life, use Burdock Blood Bitters, the great system tonic and builder.

Father of Russian Revolution. New York, Feb. 15.—Alexis Alladin, the leader of the Russian labor group in the Russian duma and so-called "Father of the Russian Revolution," who is visiting this country for the purpose of enlisting American sympathy on the side of the struggle to secure constitutional government for Russia, arrived here on the Maifestic. Alladin was expelled from the duma for his utterances in behalf of the peasant classes.

Ohio Dam No. 7. Washington, Feb. 15.—The senate committee on commerce recommends a number of important amendments looking to the deepening of Savannah and Galveston harbors to 35 feet and for the construction of lock and dam No. 7 on the Ohio river, near Pittsburg. The Ohio river amendment carries an immediate appropriation of $294,500 and the total cost is limited to $809,000 more. Unsuccessful efforts were made to secure incorporation of these provisions by the house and there is some apprehension that they may be lost in conference, even if they are accepted by the senate.

THE GERMAN EMPEROR TASTING HIS SAILORS' RATIONS ON BOARD SHIP.

As an electioneering move photographs were circulated in Germany showing the Kaiser choosing fish for his sailors' meals. The Emperor is extremely careful about his sailors' food, and whenever he is on shipboard he tastes the men's rations daily. A sailor brings him a sample of each dish from the kitchen, and the Kaiser takes a most conscientious spoonful. The fare is usually split peas or beans with bacon, rice in a quillon, and cauliflower with potatoes. On Sunday there is roast beef and compote.

MRS. ANNE DAVIS DIED ON FRIDAY OF PNEUMONIA

DECEASED HAD LIVED IN NEWARK FOR PERIOD OF FIFTY-FIVE YEARS.

During Which Time She Was Prominently Identified With Education and Charity.

Mrs. Anne F. Davis died of pneumonia at her residence at the corner of Hudson avenue and Locust street shortly after one o'clock Friday morning, aged 84 years. Mrs. Davis was the widow of the late Thomas J. Davis, who for many years was engaged in the wholesale grocery business in this city. Her birth occurred April 23, 1823 at Liskeard, Cornwall, in the south-western part of England where she was christened Anne Frances Ibbotson. In the year 1823 the Ibbotson family left Cornwall to take up their residence in the United States, locating a short distance from Zanesville, O.

Here in the newer country with its fewer comforts, the little English lass, in company with her brothers and sisters grew up, and developed the superb womanhood which has since distinguished her through life.

In the year 1842, at the early age of nineteen, she was married to Mr. T. J. Davis, and in 1852 the young couple with a family of little ones took up their residence in Newark. One year later they moved into the old brick house at the corner of Hudson avenue and Locust street where during all the 54 years which have since elapsed, her warm genial hospitality has ever been bestowed upon her friends, while the needy were not turned empty handed away.

A woman of fearlessness and large strength of character, and intellect as well as generosity, Mrs. Davis' life could not but have an influence on the organizations with which at different times, she has been identified. For thirty-five years she was president of the Ladies' Circulating Library, until recent years the only public library in Newark.

For 16 years, or during its entire existence, she was president of the Ladies' Aid society, an organization effected during the civil war for aid to the army and the relief of soldiers' widows and orphans. At the time of her death she was one of the few remaining charter members of the "Monday Talks".

Three children survive her. Mrs. Mary I. Wallace, William H. Davis and Mrs. John E. Dean, all of this city. In addition to her children, nine grandchildren and seven great grandchildren do honor to her memory.

Mrs. Mary Hamilton of Brownsville and Mrs. Emaline Gardner of Indianapolis, two sisters, also survive.

The funeral services will occur at the late home on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends of the family are invited. Rev. T. A. Congrave of the Second Presbyterian church will officiate. Interment at Cedar Hill.

MRS. J. T. VAN SICKLE.

Mrs. Edith Oedike of 25 Twelfth street, received the sad news Friday morning of the death of her sister, Mrs. J. T. Van Sickle of Somerset, O., which occurred at Sigourney, Iowa, where she was visiting with relatives. The funeral was held this afternoon and the body was buried beside that of her mother.

LOUIS HOWARD.

Louis Howard, the 19 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson of Columbus, died Thursday afternoon at the home in Columbus after a short illness. The remains arrived in this city over the Pennsylvania on Friday on No. 6. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Anderson, 200 Wilson street, the Rev. J. C. Schindler officiating. Interment in Cedar Hill cemetery.

DESIGNED SHOES FOR HIS FRIEND

Architects are frequently called upon to do peculiar things, but a well known Newark man who makes his living by designing houses has made a record for himself by designing a pair of shoes. The amusing affair was brought about this way:

The architect has a very dear friend who has suffered for a long time with corn bunions and ingrowing nails, not to mention several lesser difficulties with the pedal extremities. The friend has complained for some time that ready made shoes torture him and shoes made to his order usually fit the sore places too closely. The architect, who is noted for his willingness to aid a friend in need of assistance promptly came forward with the suggestion that he be allowed to get the next pair of shoes that his friend needed. This was agreed to and the architect took the various measures, prepared drawings on blue prints and, specifying the kinds of leather to be used, sent the order to a prominent Massachusetts shoe factory. Although the shoes have not yet arrived the friend has expressed to the architect that, in expectation of the comfort to come, his feet are nearly all well.

THE SACRED LOTUS.

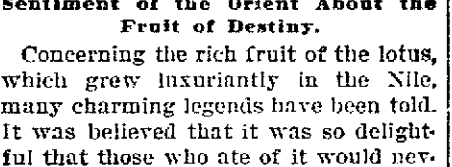

Sentiment of the Orient About the Fruit of Destiny.

Concerning the rich fruit of the lotus, which grew luxuriantly in the Nile, many charming legends have been told. It was believed that it was so delightful that those who ate of it would never leave the spot where it grew, but for it would abandon home and friends to spend their lives in a dream of serene delight. Homer, in the Odyssey, mentions the lotus eaters who lived on the northern coast of Africa and records their attempts to detain the followers of Ulysses by giving them the fruits of the lotus to eat, so that they should never wish to leave the spot where it grew.

The same poetical idea is known to the Arabs, who call it the "fruit of destiny," which is to be eaten in Paradise, and it is on this foundation that Tennyson built his charming poem of the "Lotus Eaters." This mythical lotus has been identified by several botanists with that indigenous to Tunis, which is a thorny shrub, with berries the size of an olive.

Mungo Park found a species of lotus in Central Africa bearing berries of a delicious taste, which on being dried and pounded made wholesome and pleasant bread. The lotus fruit found in Tunis has a stimulating, almost intoxicating, effect, and it is therefore probable that this plant furnished the foundation of the ancient legends.

Our troublesome wards, the Puljanés, have again been on the war-path, and "benevolent assimilation" in the Philippines still seems to be a "barren ideal." It is nearly a decade since this country embarked in the Philippine venture, and the imprudence is still being paid for in the blood and treasure of our own people, as well as of the distant islanders.

Reports from Paris indicate that an agreement is about being reached which will put an end to the unhappy conflict between the church and the state, the continuance of which threatened further great injury to both. Both sides have made concessions. While the state retains title to the churches, their use is permitted to their congregations upon terms which are substantially those approved by the church authorities. These involve a lease for 18 years the lessee in each case to be the parish priest, who may, however, consult his bishop before signing. This is an indirect recognition of the hierarchy, a point for which the church authorities have been strongly contending. The leases are to be for nominal sums. At the end of their term they will be subject to renewal.

Senators Bacon and Tillman Thursday blocked the plan to pass the immigration bill because they desired time to consider the amendment to it dealing with the Japanese coolie labor question, which, it is understood, was inserted for the purpose of satirizing San Francisco and other Pacific coast people. The senators wished to ascertain whether it would prevent the South from getting much needed labor. In this connection it may be remarked that Texas just now is welcoming Japanese labor. It is possible that Senators Bacon and Tillman may decide not to oppose the immigration bill after further consideration, but, however, they rightly objected to the program to put it through for the benefit of California. It is understood that if it passes in its present form, the San Francisco people will agree to rescind the rule against Japanese school children.

Why Not the Substitute Juror?

The Thaw trial has been interrupted while one of the jurors attends the funeral of his wife. The recent trial of Simpson in Suffolk county, came near being stopped by the illness of one of the jurors. The tedious process of selecting the Thaw jury was greatly lengthened by the just solicitude of the district attorney lest talesmen who were otherwise acceptable, might prove unable to bear the strain of a long trial. For that reason son too, jurors were excused after they had been once accepted.

As matters stand the illness of a single member of a jury halts a trial; the death or incapacity of a juror blocks it and wastes all the labor and cost of it to both sides.

This need not be the case. It would be easy to amend the law so that in a case which is likely to be long continued two supplementary jurors might be chosen in addition to the twelve. They could be sworn like the twelve and like them could listen to all the testimony. In case of need one of them could be substituted for one of the original jurors and the case go on.

Such an arrangement would not prejudice the case of any litigant. It would often save a mistrial.

A QUESTION OF DOCTORS.

(Philadelphia North American.)

The people of Pennsylvania may be expected to observe with no little interest the fate of the bill, introduced to the legislature the other day, for the rigid limitation of their opportunities to enjoy the consolations and the renewing influences of medical practitioners. This remarkable measure, which is urged by a representative from Cumberland county, proposes to give a complete monopoly of the business of "doctoring" to physicians of three schools, the allopathic, so called, the homeopathic and the eclectic. All others are forbidden to engage in "the healing art" under penalty of punishment for misdemeanor.

This act, now urged upon the legislature, undertakes to determine for a free American citizen in what particular manner his maladies may be treated. It might be a somewhat nice question, perhaps, just in what degree such a man is entitled to have control of such a matter. In the surface it looks as if an intelligent human being, living in a land of liberty, has an indisputable right to declare if his own interior department shall be drenched by a draught or assailed by a pill, or whether he shall be cured from the outside by squeezing or by prayer.

Suppose there should be a majority in a legislature composed of perfectly untrained and uninformed persons who should make up their minds that homeopathy is pure quackery, and that nobody should be suffered to practice it, how many would patiently endure that, or, on the other hand, the outlaws of allopathy?

But, if these law-framing persons may reach such conclusions about osteopathy or the Christian Science practices, why may they not some day reach them about the allopathic, homeopathic and eclectic practices?

Everybody knows that they have no original equipment for dealing with such subjects at all. This bill must have been prepared for the representative who introduced it, and, of course, by practitioners of one of the three favored schools of medicine. We hear no little clamor against trusts and combines, but here, indeed, is a proposition to legalize a combine, not to run railroads, or to manufacture pig iron, or to refine sugar, but to deal with the lives of men and women.

For all we know, osteopathy may be a bumbag, and Christian Science a delusion and a snare, but there are multitudes of men of quite the intelligence of the ordinary legislator who believe in osteopathy, and millions to whom Christian Science has the flavor of religion.

The legislator stretches his authority very far who undertakes to say that one man shall not be allowed to rub and squeeze and manipulate another man for the cure, say, of rheumatism, without peril of a prison cell. The legislator appears to us to trespass in a measure upon sacred rights who tries to make it unlawful for a patient, weary of conjecture and nauseous drugs, to summon a good man or woman to try what prayer will do.

It is to be admitted that to force one system or another upon a helpless and protesting invalid, or even upon an ignorant child, is a act which the law may properly forbid.

We may go farther and admit that there are some maladies which osteopathy certainly cannot cure, and Christian Science certainly does not. But let us remember that both those accusations may with equal assurance be brought against allopaths, homeopaths and eclectics.

Under the circumstances, and in view of all the facts, there would seem to be sound reason why the bill alluded to should not pass. At any rate, it should not be permitted to pass until some of the people at whom it is aimed and whom it proposes to suppress, shall have had a chance to make themselves heard.

berg which revealed to the enemy the nature of our intended movement." The reverse at Sandpu, he says, was due to the blundering of the officers. General Biderling's tactics at Liao Yang are severely criticised. His troops are described as being raw, inexperienced and untrustworthy and they met with constant failure. General Orloff's force of 12,000 men simply bolted from the field in wild disorder with the result that a splendid position was lost. What was lacking throughout the fighting at Liao Yang, Kuropatkin says, was "greater effort on the part of the troops and more capable handling on the part of their leaders."

During the fights on the Sha river, General Kuropatkin says, the senior commanders, Stackelberg and Biderling were responsible only for their own task and acted entirely independently.

Coming to the fighting before Mukden, Kuropatkin says that quick measures were necessary to save the city and its defense was entrusted to General Kaubars. "I again," continues Kuropatkin, "insisted upon the necessity for speedy action and gave Kaubars full freedom in carrying out this order. Kaubars did not carry it out, giving as an excuse the non-arrival of troops belonging to the second army." The forces at the disposal of Kaubars are tabulated, and it is shown that "down to Feb. 25, 35 battalions never went into action, while the Japanese were successfully carrying on a turning movement before their very eyes. At this time," Kuropatkin continues, "the commander-in-chief ordered General Kaubars to send all the troops he could to the right bank of the river. He did exactly the contrary, moving two regiments over to the left bank."

SUPERINTENDENTS OF MADHOUSES

OF OHIO ARE SCORED IN SPEECH BY GOVERNOR HARRIS THURSDAY

In Which He Demands an Immediate Improvement of Conditions Existing.

Columbus, Feb. 15.—"Brutality must not be permitted in any of the benevolent institutions of the state, particularly insane asylums, and I might even add the penal institutions." This was one of the characteristic remarks made by Governor Andrew L. Harris here Thursday in an address to superintendents of state hospitals for the insane. In a plain, blunt talk the Chief Executive went over the recent scandals that have shocked the state and informed these officials that it was up to them to exercise the utmost vigilance in the treatment of the insane patients under their care.

Governor Harris was careful not to mention specifically any institution or officer in his address, but there could be no escaping his meaning. One of his pointed suggestions was that the superintendents get into closer touch with their attendants and patients, so that they may know what is taking place in every ward. One of the difficult things was for a chief officer to learn what was going on because of the proneness of subordinates to enter into conspiracies of silence, but it was precisely this difficulty that must be overcome, he said.

"Just now there is an epidemic of complaint concerning these institutions," said the Governor, who went on to explain that nothing so aroused the public as stories of ill treatment of the helpless. The public mind was excited and extraordinary effort was necessary to restore normal conditions. He insisted that all complaints be looked into and a report made of them, even if they seemed trivial. Harrison H. Greer of Mt. Vernon, trustee of the Columbus Hospital for the Insane, severely scored brutal attendants. He declared that any officer, high or low, who permitted or condoned the punishment of the insane, or the use of more than necessary restraining force, should not only be discharged from the service of the state, but should be prosecuted as a criminal.

Rising, Governor Harris declared that he accepted that statement as his own, explaining that in his first speech he did not want to appear as lecturing the superintendents. He reiterated his strictures upon brutality, and said that once an attendant so far forgets himself as to attack a patient in anger he should be dismissed. He also intimated that from his reading of the testimony there were instances in which there was a lack of loyalty to superintendents on the part of assistants, a statement that caused a buzz of curiosity. As to the underpayment of subordinates, he said he hoped that the General Assembly would provide an elastic system of salaries whereby persons showing merit and intelligence could be advanced in pay from time to time, but he was not prepared to say that there should be a general advance from the present average. The establishment of a system of absolute responsibility from subordinate to superior was urged, so that the offender could be found out and dealt with immediately.

The address is regarded as a direct notice that the Governor wants a change in conditions and stands ready to enforce his demand. Quite a number of members of boards of trustees were in attendance at the meeting. The State Board of Charities was represented by General Roeliff Brinkerhoff and Secretary Joseph Shiner.

In the general discussion following the Governor's address the speakers strongly favored the adoption of the merit system for employees, and it developed that the Chief Executive has been considering a number of petitions lately received on that subject.

At the business session Dr. George Stockton of Columbus was chosen president, Dr. H. B. Howard of Cleveland, vice president; and H. H. Shiner, secretary. On March 1 the seven superintendents of hospitals will meet here to devise a plan for the betterment of the help question, and to arrange for an exchange of supplies among the institutions. It is probable that a merit system will be recommended.

CUPID AND THE OWL

By Byron Williams.

An owl sat in a jack-oak tree
And blinked his big, round eyes at me;
At Rose and me beside the brook,
In calm, sequestered, moonlit nook.
Then screeched the owl with bold halloo.
And brashly queried, "Whoo? Whoo?
Whoo?"

"It's only Rose and I," I said,
"And you would better go to bed,
Instead of rudely staring thus
With your big eyes a-down at us."
But Mr. Owl, with much ado,
He petulantly hooted "Whoo?"

"It's Rose," I said; "Just Rose and I;
Beside us two there's no one nigh.
We're sitting here upon the brink—
And what is more, I do not think It's extra nice to thus pursue
Your impolite, persistent 'Whoo?'"

The big owl blinked his eyes at me
From out the foliage of the tree; "Whoo, whoo? Whoo whoo?" he wetrilly shrieked.
And then at Rose and me he peeked.
"It's only we," I cried; "We two!"
But all he answered was "Whoo?"

"Just Rose and I—er—course you know
There's Cupid with his silver bow!
But 'tis not thee he seeks to maim—
The elf is out for bigger game!"

And then that owl went straight to bed,
Shut tight his eyes, tucked in his head!
He must have felt secure apart
With Cupid aiming at my heart!

Gardner's Warning to Members on Danger of Extravagance.

LONGS FOR GOOD OLD DAYS.

It Was Then That de Black Folks Slept In Peace and Did Not Dream of Bein' Turned Outdoahs Bekase de Rent Was Behind.

[Copyright, 1907, by M. M. Cunningham.]
"My frens," said Brother Gardner of the Limekiln club as he arose in his place the other evening, "It's bin doin'
a heap o' thinkin' and lookin' around fur de last week, and I has come to ax myself, 'Why all dis trouble and turmoil and tribulashun?' Why do we do it, and what does it amount to arter
we have done it?"

"Dar am a few among you yere dis evenin' who kin remember how we used to lib in de old and better days.
De black man who had a two roomed cabin and an acre of ground wasn't reachin' out arter another thing on de face of dis airth. He had reached de pinnacle and was willin' to stop.

"Dar was co'meal in de bar'l, bacon hangin' up in de kitchen and vegetabels in de garden. We didn't have broccloths or silks, and we didn't have stufed cheeks and fried oysters, but when de sun went down dar was singin' in ebery cabin in de land—We didn't have no cuckoo clock to wind up befo' gwine to bed, but we slept in peace and did not dream of bein' turned outdoahs bekase de rent was behind.

"We played on de ax and hoe and shovel 'stead of de planner, but de music brung us peace and contentment jest de same.

No at Homes.

"Dar was no high teams, low coffees and at homes for us. Sometimes a dozen of us gathered together to talk and sing, but dar was a dipper of spring water fur refreshment 'stead of ice cream and angels' food.

"We had our churches, but de pews wasn't cushioned, and our preachers didn't wear diamond pins and talk in sich high down language dat we couldn't foller dem.

"We was a humble people. We had no strivin' and longin's. If we found a dollar in de road we thanked God; used it to buy de old woman a pair of brogans. If we didn't find de dollar we still thanked God and got along de best way we could.

"Dar was pollytics around in dem old days, but a fat possum up a persimmon tree was mo' to us dan who should be gov'nor of de state. We didn't vote, but we didn't miss anything by it.

"I couldn't walk out wid a black suit on and carry a gold headed cane and bow in a patronizin' way to white men, but I can't remember dat I cuffed de children's ears bekase of it.

"I have heard folks wonder how we managed to exist in dem old days, but I libed den and am libin' now, and I kin tell you dat we went about wid contentment in our hearts and felt dat

"BRINGIN' A CUCKOO CLOCK UNDER MY ARM."

it was good to be alive. We worked hard and libed plain, and when de debtil come along he passed us by as people he couldn't meddle wid. He just looked us ober and said to hisself dat it would be time frown away.

Sort of Flighty Prayers.

"I'm reckonin' dat we didn't keep very good time when we sung de hymns all together, and I reckon dat
some of de prayers was sort o' flighty and not up to de top notch in grammar, but I'm believin' de Lawd heard dem jest de same and gin us jest de same chance to reach heaben.

"I sit down in de old rockin' cheer of an evenin' and think of these things, my frens, and den compare fifty years ago wid today. It jest makes my ha'r stand up to do it. I git so excited sometimes dat de old woman has to tell me to put my cold feet
in de oven and drink hot catnip tea.

"De two room cabin of half a century ago has become de six room flat of today. De punchon doah and hidden under tiger skin rugs. De two or three old cheers and de humble bed have been replaced by furniture fit fur a king. One of de lookin' glasses hangin' up costs mo' dan all we had in our cabins.

"Fur thirty years I hadn't a pane of glass in de winders of my cabin. I didn't see de need of it, and agin I sorter felt dat I wanted to gin de Lawd a free chance to look in at any time o' day or night. Today you couldn't git a black man to lib in a house widout winders, and he wants lace curtains to boot. He's willin' to keep de Lawd out and de debtil in.

"In my time if a black man had walked into a grocery and ordered de grocer to send him up half a pound of tea, two pounds of butter, a pound of coffee and a box of bakin' powder dar would have bin people sayin' dat de judgment day was not fur off. Now dar's nuthin' thought about it. In my day if a husband had come home and found his old woman givin' a high tea he would have drapped dead. Now-days husbands help to wait on de company.

Would Have Felt His Head.

"If I had come home from town bringin' a cuckoo clock under my arm de old woman would have looked at me fur a minit in a curus way. Den she would have felt of my head to find de soft spot. Den she would have gone out under de plum tree and knocked down and axed de Lawd to gib me my senses back and not leave her in a hole. She would have taken it dat I was plumb crazy, and eberybody else fur ten miles around would have agreed wid her.

"Had a peddler come along wid a ten dollar rug and axed me to buy it de de installment plan and had I wasted five minits talkin' wid him at de gate I should have felt a whack
from a broomstick across my shoulders. It would have bin considered a sin in de sight of de Lawd to buy sich a rug. All de crows and buzzards and possums and coons fur twenty miles around would have come flockin' to look at it and call me a fule.

"I took a leetle walk today, and I saw lace curtains and heard planers playin'. I saw grocery wagons and butther carts drivin' up. I saw cull'd women goin' out and comin' home in cowpays. I saw cull'd chil'en on de street whose clothes cost mo' dan it used to cost me to dress my huilt fam'ly of eight. I saw cull'd women in silks and cull'd men in Prince Alberts. I saw 'em buyin' rugs and carpets and statuary. I heard de women talkin' about deir dressmakers and de men talkin' about deir tailors. I saw all dis and much more, and when I got home I sot down in my cheer and thunk till my old head was whirin'
round wid thunkin'.

De old woman put my feet to soak and tied a wet towel around my head, but all night long I was dreamin' of a long pur-sion of folks marchin' past my cabin on de way to de porchouse and de graveyard beyand.

Quite Different Now.

"When I look up and down de aisles dis evenin' I catch de sparkle of diamonds. I behold patent leather shoes.
I see embroidered socks sich as de king of England wears. I see suits of clothes dat cost $25. I see members of de club who am gwine home to walk on Persian rugs and drink port wine befo' dey tumbles into a bed wid a twenty dollar spread kivered ober de top to woo de angels.

"My frens, you has bin gwine de pace. You has got dar. You am at de top. What am gwine to foller? Are you gwine to be de happier, fur it?
You will answer dat you am, but it's all a bluff. Dar hain't a man of you but what's in de debt. Dar hain't a man of you dat could raise $50 in cash on a pinch. You am libin' from hand to mouth and don't know what de inside of a savin's bank looks like. Let a carbuncle on de neck lay any of you up fur a week and you'd be around borrowin' money to keep de wolf from de doah. Your wives ride in cowpays while you owe de butcher and am gwine a block outer your way to dodge him. You am eatin' ice cream while you owe de grocer fur codfish. You am stuffin' down sweet cake while your better am satisfied wid co'meal.
You am wearin' patent leather shoes
while you am standin' de coal man off.
You am rentin' boxes at de postoffice
while your chil'en want fur school books. You am swellin' about and talkin' pollytics while folks am offerin'
good money for whitewashin'.

"I say all right to dis. It's none of my funeral. If de pace suits you, keep it up. It hain't fur me to butt in and spile your day dreams, but when de crash comes, as come it must, don't come shoutin' to me fur cold taters.
Don't come a-sayin' you didn't dun think it could ever be. Don't come weepin' kase you has had a good time and lost it. Dar's signs in de heabens and signs all around us on airth dat hobbery am gwine to be let loose befo' many years mo' have passed, and if you will persist in closin' your eyes and ears you must take what's comin' to you. Let us now heard up de front doah, turn out de lamps and go home and think a few thanks."

HOW WARS BEGIN.

Pa Tried to Explain to His Son, but Was Interrupted.

"Papa, how do nations get into war with each other?" asked Harry.
"Sometimes one way, sometimes another," said the father. "Now, there are Germany and Spain. They came near getting into war because a Spanish mob took down de German flag."
"No, my dear," put in Harry's mother. "That wasn't de reason."
"But, my darling," said Mr. M., "don't you suppose I know? That was de reason."

"No, dearie, you are mistaken. It was because de Germans tried."
"Mrs. M., I say it was because the—"
"Peleg, you know better. You are only trying to—"
"Madam, I don't understand dat
your opinion was asked in this matter, anyway."

"Well, I don't want my boy instructed by an old ignoramus."
"See here, you impudent!"
"Put down your old cane, you brute.
Don't you dare bristle up to me or I'll—"
"Never mind," interrupted Harry. "I think I know now how wars begin."

Danderine

GREW MISS LEWIS' HAIR

AND WE CAN

PROVE IT

The Great Danderine Never Fails to Produce the Desired Results

MISS Lewis' hair was very thin and it was less than two feet in length when she began using Danderine. She says her hair and scalp are now fairly teeming with new life and vigor.

That's the main secret of this great remedy's success as a hair grower. It en-livens, invigorates and fairly electrifies the hair glands and tissues of the scalp, causing unusual and unheard-of activity on the part of these two most important organs, resulting in a strenuous and continuous growth of the hair.

The following is a reproduction of Miss Lewis' last letter:

January 3, 1905.

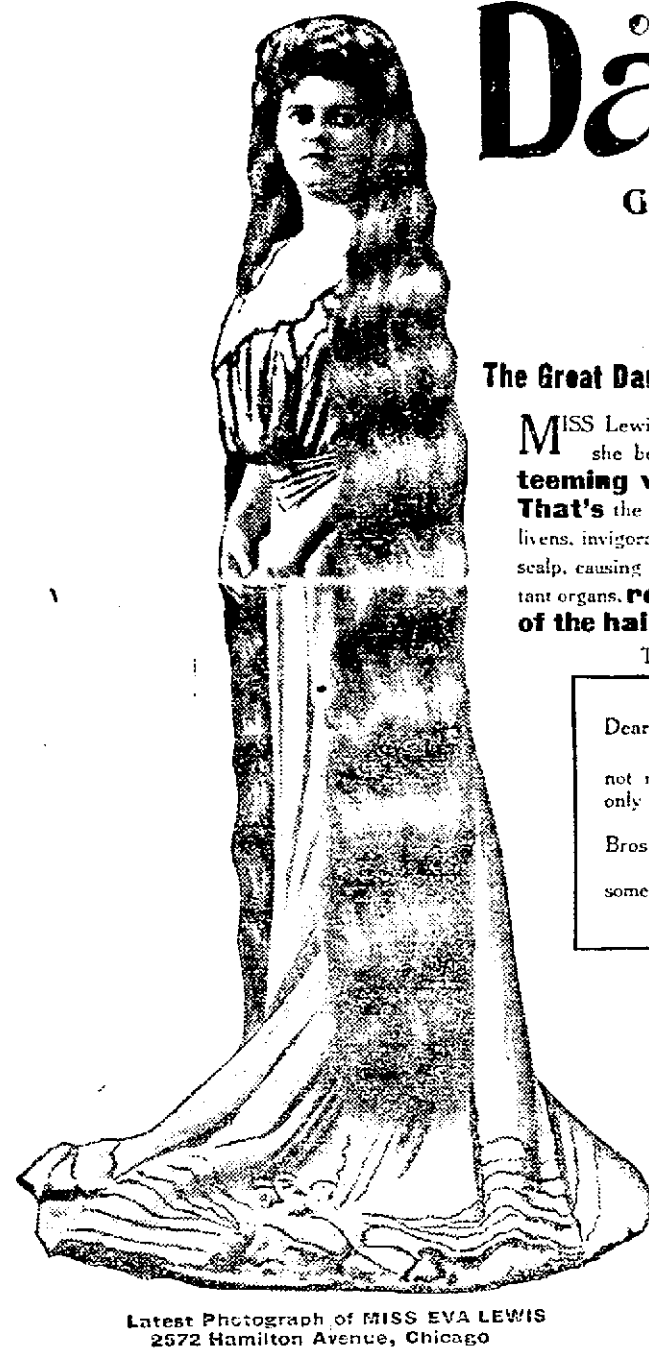

Dear Doctor Knowlton:—

You know I told you in my first letter that my hair would not reach much below my shoulders, and that all of it together only made one tiny braid.

I am sending you my photograph, which I had taken at Stevens Bros. It tells the whole story better than I can tell it.

Everybody I know is using Danderine, so you see I am doing something to show my appreciation.

Sincerely yours, (Miss) EVA LEWIS.

Danderine makes the scalp healthy and fertile and keeps it so. It is the greatest scalp fertilizer and therefore the greatest hair-producing remedy the world has ever known.
It is a natural food and a wholesome medicine for both the hair and scalp. Even a 25c bottle of it will put more genuine life in your hair than a gallon of any other hair tonic ever made. It shows results from the very start.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes,
25 cents, 50 cents and $1. per bottle

FREE.

To show how quickly Danderine acts we will send a large sample free by return mail to any one who sends this advertisement to the Knowlton Danderine Co., Chicago, with their name and address and 10 cents in silver or stamps to pay postage.

chief engineer; Brigadier General
Peter C. Hains, retired civil engineer;

Herrod, Colonel W. C. Gorgas and out at the war department says: "Mr.

but in view of the fact that the names have not been sent to the senate before and it was proper to secure confirmation, this list was sent in."

RHEUMATISM
WORSE FROM YEAR TO YEAR

The cause of Rheumatism is an excess of uric acid in the blood, brought on by indigestion, chronic constipation, weak kidneys and a general sluggish condition of the entire system. The refuse and waste matter of the body is not carried out as nature intends, but is left to ferment and sour and generate uric acid, which is absorbed into the blood. The first evidence of Rheumatism is usually little wandering pains in the muscles and joints, or a tender, sensitive place on the flesh. These are often so slight that nothing is thought of them and they pass away; but with each recurrence the trouble becomes more severe, and from slight wandering pains and excited nerves, Rheumatism grows to be a painful and almost constant trouble. The longer the poison remains in the blood the firmer hold the trouble gets on the system. Each day the acid deposit is increasing and the disease grows worse from year to year. After awhile the joints become coated with a corrosive substance which seriously interferes with their working and movements and sometimes they become permanently stiff and useless. S. S. S.
cures Rheumatism by going down into the blood and attacking the disease at its head. It neutralizes the poisons and acids and dissolves the salts and irritating deposits, making the blood stream pure, fresh and healthy. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, and is therefore a safe remedy. When the blood has been purified by S. S. S. the pains and aches pass away, and the cure is permanent. Book on Rheumatism, and medical advice free.

ICE BRIDGE

Swept Away by the Wind and the Ice Cutters, Can't Get Home Until Spring.

Sandusky, O., February 15.—Although they can see their homes on Kelleys Island, about six miles away, Alphonse Erney, Henry Tritschmann and Norman Upp will be unable to reach them before spring unless they cross the ice gorged channel known to the lake men as the South Passage, at the risk of their lives.

Erney Tritschmann and Upp were hauling ice to their houses on Kelleys Island, from a point off Lakeside. They had just started on their last trip when a high wind carried away the ice bridge over which they had passed several hours before. A floe carried the men, their teams and all to Marblehead, several miles below Lakeside, where the shore was gained with great difficulty. Here the advent of the island-bound steamer Lakeside, on its first trip of the coming spring, will be awaited.

Steinberg was arrested in the company of pretty Jessie Ludwig, of Bluffton, who was to accompany him, she said, to Chicago, where he had promised her employment and where one Glenna Simms, formerly of Findlay, was to join her. The police here believe Steinberg a fictitious name and are communicating with the Toledo saloon keeper.

RED SWEATER

Used by the Boy to Flag Passenger Train Approaching the Burning Bridge.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 16.—Madison Jones, a 12 year old farmer boy, discovering that a portion of a 600 foot trestle had been burned near Sparks Gap on the Southern railway 20 miles from Birmingham, left his wagon in the road, and taking off his red sweater, flagged an approaching passenger train.

The train came to a halt, and the passengers, upon discovering the situation, made up a purse for the boy. There was a curve not far from the trestle and the boy proceeded to this to flag the train, which carried about 100 passengers.

SEVEN ROUNDS

Finished Johnny Morrison in His Bout With Benny Yanger.

Hot Springs, Ark., Feb. 15.—Benny Yanger of Chicago got the decision over Johnny Morrison of Benton Harbor, Mich., in the seventh round in what was to have been a 20 round fight here. Morrison was beaten so badly that he was bleeding from the mouth and nose and both eyes were closed. In the seventh Morrison stepped to the center of the ring, but he was so exhausted that he was unable to raise his arms. Morrison realized he was whipped and walked to his corner. Technically it was a knockout.

FRED CASTER PAYS PENALTY OF HIS CRIME

WAS ELECTROCUTED ON FRIDAY MORNING FOR MURDERING OFFICER DAVIS.

Circus Employee Arrested on Suspicion of Murder—Important Ohio News Told Briefly.

Columbus, Feb. 15.—A few minutes past midnight Fred Caster was electrocuted in the annex at the Ohio penitentiary. There were no unusual incidents and the execution was without a hitch.

Caster showed remarkable courage when led to the death chair. Before the black cap was adjusted the condemned man thanked the prison officials for the consideration he had received at their hands. The first shock was administered at 12:03—1,700 volts. The current was again turned on at a smaller voltage and at 12:16 Caster was declared dead. The resistance of the condemned man was unusually small, being only 4 1/2 amperes as compared with 8 amperes for Butler Styles, who was recently electrocuted. Caster's body was turned over to his mother and sisters, who came here to pay him a farewell visit and according to present plans the body will be buried here.

Caster was convicted of the murder of Patrolman Dan E. Davis while fleeing from a Columbus residence which he had robbed in June, 1905. Governor Harris received many appeals for a respite for the condemned man and shortly before he gave his final decision not to interfere, this telegram came from Amas Caster, father of the young man, who lives at Flint, Mich.: "Please respite my poor boy and give him a chance to see the United States supreme court review his case. Two supreme judges of Ohio dissented at first hearing. Do not send him to death without a fair chance. Have mortgaged my home and am making an earnest effort to raise funds with every prospect of success." The governor could not get any assurance from Caster's attorneys that they would appeal the case if a respite were granted.

Circus Employee a Suspect.

Columbus, O., Feb. 15.—William Mock, an animal tender for the Sells circus, was arrested on suspicion that he was implicated in the murder and robbery of Shadrick Westbrook in Cardington, O., April, 1904. The arrest was made at the instance of the prosecuting attorney of Morrow county and Mock will be taken to that town for a preliminary hearing. Westbrook had just sold his farm and had $5,000. He was robbed by some one, who hit him with a blackjack. He died from the effects of the blow.

After Mayor Robb.

Lima, O., Feb. 15.—With the mayor of Lima, Judge Theodore Robb, confined to the City hospital, Otis Lippincott, an attorney, says he will bring proceedings to oust him from his office. Lippincott bases his charges in a letter to a newspaper, on the fact that the mayor charged fees on a case which was never heard in police court. Mayor Robb says this was an error of his clerk. Lippincott also makes charges of liquor selling on Sunday.

Wanted at Home.

Lima, O., Feb. 15.—Julius Beiser, referee in bankruptcy in the federal court of Cincinnati, was kidnapped there by Deputy Sheriff Earnest of this city. Beiser is wanted here for evading a summons to appear before the grand jury, he being a trustee for one of the late ousted bridge trust companies, against which a number of secret indictments are said to have been returned against company officers as individuals.

Blackmail Alleged.

Zanesville, O., Feb. 15.—Charles Jordan, 20, a widower, of Alva, Noble county, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Meyer in this city charged with misusing the mails. Emery, widow of the millionaire real estate man of Cincinnati, demanding that she give him $5,000 before March, and threatening to kill her if she refused.

VESTIBULE LAW ON STREET CARS WAS VIOLATED

And Officials of Columbus Lines Will Have to Answer to State Warrants.

Columbus, O., Feb. 15.—Determined to enforce the law passed by the last legislature requiring that street car motormen be protected from the cold by closing vestibules and heating apparatus, County Prosecutor Webber caused warrants to be issued for the arrest of Robert E. Sheldon, president, and E. K. Stewart, vice president and general manager of the Columbus Railway and Light company, on the charge of non-compliance with the law. The street car company, as a corporation, also was named as a defendant. The street car officials have claimed the law is defective and have equipped only six of their cars. Under the law, there is a fine of $25 to $100 for each day a car vestibule is allowed to be unheated.

N. H. S. WILL NOT DISBAND TEAM

IN SPITE OF REPORT PRINTED THURSDAY NIGHT TO THE CONTRARY.

Marion High Will Play Here Next Wednesday Night—One Game Was Cancelled.

A story printed Thursday night in another paper saying that the Newark high school basketball team had disbanded for the season has caused just indignation among the members of the team and an emphatic denial has been made by Prof. Tait of the high school faculty.

The story went on to state that the Newark boys were crushed by the two overwhelming defeats suffered at the hands of Ashville and Canal Dover and that the team would disband.

Prof. Tait stated Friday that while the Ashville game had been cancelled, the team would go right on and finish the schedule which includes five or more games. The team members were unjustly treated in the article and irreparable damage was done the standing of the school by printing such a story.

Marion High will play on the local floor next week and the Newark boys will put up a game worthy of any one's time. It is true that the boys have been outplayed in the last two games but their spirits have not been crushed by any means.

Thornton Lewis is the only man on the team who played last year regularly and one other man on this year's team was a substitute. The other three members are absolutely green in basketball, this being their first season. In spite of this fact the team has played a wonderfully stubborn game and has made many friends by the game resistance with which they have fought the opposing players.

Ashville was asked to substitute another team for the date there because several of the Newark players had studies which would not permit their absence from town and others were desirous of hearing the Judge Lindsey lectures tonight. Therefore the change in the schedule was made.

If not absolutely the oldest, the Stora Kopparberget in Sweden is the oldest copper mine of which there are any official figures. It has been worked continuously for nearly 800 years.
